

Adding something simple to your workplace could save a life

Last year there were 70 deaths and over 2000 serious injuries* as a result of workplace transport accidents. Doing something simple, like painting clear segregation lines to keep pedestrians away from delivery vehicles, is just one way that you could save a life this year. Many more ways can be found on our website; we urge you to visit it.

Download your workplace transport safety checklist today, at www.hse.gov.uk/workplacetransport

Better health & safety benefits everyone